Since Resolution’s inception in 2007, we have provided a pathway to action for 299 creative, energetic undergraduate students around the world. Thanks to the generosity of our friends, volunteers, donors, and supporters, we have grown from 20 Fellows at the end of 2011 to more than 299 Resolution Fellows today. These Fellows are working in 20 U.S. states and 63 countries, developing innovative approaches and sustainable solutions to pressing global issues. They are driving progress in their communities, and their efforts have benefited more than 1.3 million people thus far—making each Resolution Fellow a change agent and a force for good.

Resolution Fellows are as diverse as the issue areas and geographies they serve—economically, racially, and ethnically. Our Fellows originate from countries including The Dominican Republic, Ghana, China, Zimbabwe, Honduras, Bangladesh, Mongolia, Indonesia, the United States, and many more. They are implementing ventures both in their own countries of origin and beyond.

We know, from 10 years of work, that activating young people through social entrepreneurship has an enormous impact—they become engaged early in making positive changes in the world, and the character of their leadership is defined by a sense of social responsibility.

About the Fellow
Nima Dahir graduated summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the Ohio State University with degrees in mathematics and economics. Nima conducted extensive research during her time at Ohio State, working as a research assistant and performing independent research in development economics. Her interest in international work informs her work with Refuge, an organization dedicated to peer-to-peer mentorship for young adult refugees. She now works as a Research Analyst at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The Issue and Her Resolution
Nima, along with her co-founders Abd Al-Rahman Traboulsi and Jackson Frazier, launched Refuge, a social venture that aims to empower adolescent refugee populations through intercultural dialogue and higher education. The program establishes an online community to promote intercultural exchange between refugee and American student partners, culminating in an immersion experience at Ohio State to foster relationships and spur discussion with community leaders. In 2017, Refuge launched and ran a successful pilot with 15 refugee students and college mentors during the spring semester at Ohio State.

How We Help
Resolution Co-Founder and Chair, Oliver Libby, recently met with Nima and her team to offer advice on their Hult Prize finals pitch. The team has also been working with its Guides, Chris Katsimigles and Sugam Sarin, to build exposure for Refuge, and recently began reaching out to communities outside of central Ohio (Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Akron) in order to expand its student base for the fall program. After the venture’s promising start this year, we’re sure it will continue to attract college and refugee students interested in education and impact!
About the Fellow
Godwin Kojo Attigah was born in Accra, Ghana. He believes in a new Africa where science and technology drive success, and is currently pursuing this vision by majoring in computer science and minoring in business administration. As an avid member of the open source software development community, Godwin states that his quest to solve life’s challenges is paramount. Participating in debate teams in high school and college has also afforded him the opportunity to interact with topical issues affecting society at large. Since joining Resolution in 2014, Godwin has been an active member of the community, and his venture was showcased with an interactive installation at the 2017 Resolve Gala.

The Issue and His Resolution
Resolution Fellows Maxwell Chinnah and Godwin Attigah have designed a new patent-pending clean cookstove that reduces smoke pollution by 90% and generates electricity from heat, making it 50% more fuel efficient than a regular charcoal stove. The stoves are being deployed in the Ashanti Region of Ghana by local youth, who have been trained to build and maintain the cookers. Terraoak reduces the time spent on gathering firewood, minimizes the health risks associated with indoor charcoal and wood cooking fires, and provides employment opportunities for community members. As of spring 2017, the venture reports that it has impacted 175 direct and 350 indirect beneficiaries in its course of operation.

How We Help
Since launching Terraoak with the seed funding provided by Resolution, Godwin and his co-founder have been working with their Guides, Michelle Riffelmacher and Majeed Wahid, on securing additional funding for the project. For instance, Majeed connected the pair to an offshore manufacturer and Michelle provided a letter of recommendation for the Davis Peace Projects for Peace. Furthermore, Oliver Libby connected the pair to several individuals whom Godwin reports have been working to help reduce manufacturing costs. Resolution recently connected Godwin and Maxwell with attorneys at the firm of Orrick, Herrington, and Sutcliffe, who helped the Fellows to file a Patent Cooperation Treaty patent in addition to their US patent. Lastly, for the past year the pair has been actively working with Eugene Diadone, a private engineer who was a referral from Program Manager Lauren Horn’s personal network. Equipped with these resources and their own impressive skill sets and knowledge, Godwin and Maxwell are benefiting both local Ghanaian communities and our environment at large with their innovative problem-solving!
JENNIFER CARVEL
Hearts for the Homeless Orlando

About the Fellow
Jennifer Carvel is an honors student at the University of Central Florida pursuing a Bachelor’s degree in biomedical sciences and psychology. Growing up in downtown Miami, Jennifer witnessed the pervasiveness of homelessness and hunger within her community. Even as a child, she tried to alleviate some of this suffering by offering supermarket gift cards and excess food from her school cafeteria to the homeless. Her experiences led her to co-found Hearts for the Homeless Orlando, an organization that aims to provide free blood pressure screenings and medical resource information to the homeless population of Orlando during local food shares. As a Resolution Fellow, Jennifer hopes to raise awareness of chronic illnesses amongst the homeless at UCF and the greater Orlando community. Following graduation at UCF, Jennifer hopes to achieve a PhD in Psychology and to continue to fight to end homelessness.

The Issue and Her Resolution
Jennifer, along with her co-founders Andrew Aboujaoude and Alexis Ghersi, launched Hearts For The Homeless Orlando, which is developing a new hypertension-screening program for the homeless community in Orlando, FL and partnering with local food shares and free healthcare clinics to help reduce incidence of hypertension and cardiac diseases in this under served community. The initiative also aims to promote awareness for this population by creating needed volunteer opportunities for university students. Since launching with Resolution’s seed funding, Hearts for the Homeless has met or exceeded all of its goals, having screened over 300 homeless individuals in less than two years (surpassing its goal by over a year), expanded to other locations, earned media recognition, and amassed a dedicated volunteer team of over 120 members.

How We Help
The co-founders have been working with their Guides, Kritika Bansal and Haviva Kohl, on registering as a 501(c)3 tax-exempt organization. The Guides have also helped the team to interpret their data and overcome various obstacles that have arisen through the course of their venture, from team building to scaling. Resolution provided funding so the team could purchase materials to expand the initiative to other cities in Florida, as well as support, guidance, and the ability to connect to other professionals who could offer them advice on the best devices to use for their venture and other technical details. The team’s determined efforts have allowed it to make remarkable progress so far, and we can’t wait to see the venture continue to expand and support the homeless communities that benefit from its work!

Resolution activates and empowers young leaders through our Social Venture Challenges ("SVCs"), multi-stage pitch competitions that combine web-based submissions, live rounds of presentations, and due diligence. We partner with an incredible network of Host Conferences and invite undergraduate students attending those conferences and gatherings to propose social ventures through the SVC. At the end of each SVC, we award Resolution Fellowships to those young entrepreneurs with the most compelling personal leadership characteristics and potentially impactful social venture proposals.
Thank you to all of our SVC Host Conferences for your ongoing support!
Thank you to our dedicated Corporate Partners for their generous donations of time and talent. Their commitments enable Resolution to provide robust mentorship, in-depth training, and other resources to our global community of young leaders.

DuPont has continued to offer immense support and engagement through our partnership to Develop Leaders for a Sustainable Future. DuPont currently supports 50 Fellows implementing 34 social ventures related to energy, the environment, food and agriculture around the world. Through the joint initiative, SEED (Social Entrepreneurship, Education, and Development), Resolution and General Electric are working together to tackle pressing global challenges. General Electric employees are truly dedicated to our organization, serving as Guides and Subject Matter Experts with real-world insights and technical expertise for our Fellows. Our partners at JPMorgan Chase & Co., provide energetic team members to serve as Guides to Fellows and as judges at our Social Venture Challenges, while also providing generous support for Fellows promoting workforce readiness and small business expansion. Resolution has also continued its partnership with Voya Foundation to promote Economic Empowerment in the USA by supporting Fellows implementing social ventures to create solutions around financial inclusion, workforce development, job creation, and K-12 education (focused on STEM) across the United States.

PATHWAY PARTNERSHIP

Connecting organizations in the social sector with emerging young entrepreneurs making a global impact.

Resolution’s Pathway Partnership program connects Resolution Fellows to the wider social entrepreneurship sector by building intentional partnerships to share knowledge, pipelines, resources, networks, opportunities, and outcomes. We work closely with our partners to bring the social sector closer together and provide an extraordinary portfolio of opportunities, such as access to sources of follow-on funding, to Resolution Fellows. Resolution Pathway Partners get visibility in front of fantastic candidates for their programs and the partnership network provides an extraordinary portfolio of resources to our Fellows as they embark on a lifetime of social impact.

OUR IMPACT

“Resolution was one of the first organizations to believe in me, and its support and community helped me build Six Foods into something I couldn’t have even imagined a year ago. I know that Echoing Green will be yet another supportive community that will help us reach that next level of growth.”

Rose Wang, Resolution Fellow, and Co-Founder of Six Foods

TEAM RESOLUTION

Last year, Team Resolution embarked on a rebranding process with the goal of better emphasizing its core purpose: to be a group of Resolution community members interested in leading more active lifestyles while supporting Resolution's mission.

This year, Team Resolution continued this tradition while maintaining its track record of successful fundraising by running 26.2 miles in the 2017 TCS NYC Marathon. Many of our team members broke their personal best times while also raising a total of $17,960.

The event was particularly meaningful for Resolution after our organization was named an Official Charity Partner of the 2017 TCS New York City Marathon in March, joining more than 350 official charity partners who have raised $235 million since the inception of the official charity partner program in 2006.
This year, we hosted our 8th Annual Resolve Gala, raising more than $400,000 with the help of our network of sponsors and generous donors. Funds raised at the Resolve Gala are vital in supporting our global network of Fellows, who turned out to the event in the largest group of Fellows yet assembled.

Held at the iconic Harvard Club of New York City, the evening included a three-hour open bar, an auction by Christie’s, and a beatboxing performance by two-time Grammy Award winner Rahzel.

Resolve 2017 served as a testament to the positive change that Resolution’s network of volunteers, Guides, and Fellows are affecting, both in their communities and around the world.

Our guests were treated to Resolution-branded gift bags containing special products from Vegan Rob’s, Unreal, Kind, Harmless Harvest, Acure, Savannah Bee Company, Eco Lips, Runa, Newman’s Own, Karyn Schoenbart, Simply Gum, and Conscious Company Media.

We would also like to extend our thanks to our beverage sponsors: Campari, Cinzano, and Heineken.

Thank you to our entire community of sponsors, donors, volunteers, Fellows, and supporters for making this evening a great success.

In 2017, we hosted our 4th Annual Geraldine Acuña-Sunshine Young Leaders Now Award Dinner and reception. The purpose of YLN is to celebrate and recognize inspiring leaders who began successfully changing the world while still in college. We welcomed several Resolution Fellows and more than 100 guests for an intimate evening dedicated to supporting the impact of young leaders and the important role they play in the social sector.

This year’s YLN event honored Monica Gray Logothetis, Co-Founder and CEO of DreamWakers, who got her start by founding a social venture in college at University of Virginia’s Madison House.

We were also excited to recognize Nicholas Logothetis, Co-Founder and Chairman of the Board of The Concordia Summit and Executive Board Member at the Libra Group, with the Champions Circle Award for Supporting Young Leaders. This award is presented to top leaders who, throughout their careers, have distinguished themselves as champions for social change and advocates for entrepreneurship.
In 2017, we were delighted to host two Resolution Socials—one in New York and one in Boston. We welcomed hundreds of young professionals to these events, providing opportunities to learn about and support Resolution’s work while networking with Resolution’s talented young professional community. With generous support from our sponsors, both Socials proved to be great successes and effective ways to bring the message of responsible, youth-led social change to a wider audience.
